PUBLIC COMMENTS

Ivy Kery addressed the danger of the recently-installed dividers at Knickerbocker Drive and Heatherstone Way. Kery stated the dividers are difficult to see at night by bicyclists and her husband had crashed into one and suffered a concussion.

Councilmembers Swegles asked staff about the purpose of these dividers.

Assistant Director of Public Works Mark Rogge responded that the dividers are part of the Safe Routes to Schools programs and are designed to ensure child safety.

Councilmember Whittum confirmed that a street light installed at that location would be beneficial..

Shawn Storm encouraged Council to vote for all of the Bicycling and Pedestrian Advisory Commission (BPAC) study issues. Having lost friends to bicycling accidents, he asked Council to support bicycle safety throughout Sunnyvale.

Josh Salans voiced his opposition to Councilmember Lee going to the Middle East and serving in active military duty.

Orellen Daniels spoke about the 7-hour parking signs in front of her home. Daniels has received parking tickets and stated she feels she is being harassed by Code Enforcement. Daniels hoped there could be some type of resident exemption stickers to resolve the issue.

Vice Mayor Hamilton suggested that removal of the signs would alleviate the problem.

PUBLIC HEARINGS/GENERAL BUSINESS

2. RTC 09-003 Annual Public Hearing - Potential Council Study Issues and Budget Issues for Calendar Year 2009

Intergovernmental Relations Officer Yvette Agredano presented the staff report.

Councilmember Whittum suggested four possible budget issues: closed captioning of Council Meeting broadcasts; seminar on parliamentary procedure for Council and commissions; increased postings in the local newspaper; and removal of Council from the Public Employees Retirement System (PERS).

Councilmember Whittum noted three possible study issues that had been brought before him by the public. He sponsored a study issue to consider an ordinance regarding commercial vehicle parking, a charter amendment or ordinance providing temporary appointments to fill Council and/or board/commission absences during military leave, and a modification of parking exemption for all Sunnyvale residents.

Vice Mayor Hamilton suggested two study issues: online payment of City utility bills; and regulations regarding cell phone towers.

Public hearing opened.

Mei-Ling Stefan thanked Council for sponsoring the enforcement of telecommunications towers and facilities study issue. Stefan then questioned the selection process for the interim councilmember.

Carol Weiss proposed a study issue modifying the ordinance for the parking of commercial vehicles in a residential district.

Reid Myers, President of the Cumberland South Neighborhood Association, proposed a change to the Sunnyvale tree policy in an effort to save Chinese Pistache Trees in her neighborhood. Her plan could save the City money, preserve the beauty of the neighborhood and reduce potential injuries.

Garth Williams spoke about study issue, DPW 07 - Evaluation and Implementation of the Stevens Creek Trail Extension.

Williams suggested a re-evaluation of the 1994 Stevens Creek Trail policy stating it is incongruent with the other policies in the general plan relating to bicycle facilities. Williams mentioned a draft staff report prepared for a Council study issue last year where policies were supportive and bicycle friendly. However, the 1994 policy stated that the Stevens Creek corridor in Sunnyvale is not feasible and should not be constructed.

Councilmember Moylan added that in his Intergovernmental assignment meeting with all the neighborhood cities the conclusion was, before they could proceed with their Stevens Creek Trail plans, the cities are waiting for direction from the City of Sunnyvale. Councilmember Moylan stressed this is a more urgent issue than was previously thought.

Jim Griffith supported approval of study issues OCM 07, DPW 11, DPW 13, DPW 16, and DPW 20. Griffith also suggested a study issue to develop a long-term plan to extend the cities reclaimed water system. Griffith stated he did not think a parliamentary procedure study issue was necessary.

Robert Hoop urged adoption of the cell tower compliance study issue. Hoop advocated minimal commercial cell tower use in neighborhoods; hoped the City could improve code enforcement of such towers and suggested the City have a specific department dedicated to monitoring, enforcing, and approving all cell towers.

Werner Gans suggested a study issue be considered regarding the old landfill site including possible leasing of the area or creating a solar cell farm. Additionally, he proposed going to online utility billing statements.

Kevin Jackson, Chair of BPAC, discussed all the bicycle-related study issues and presented the Commission's recommendations.

Councilmember Howe asked Jackson if BPAC discussed the 1994 policy regarding the Steven's Creek Trail.

Jackson stated BPAC discussed the 1994 policy at great length and noted it was part of a left-over study issue from last year. Jackson emphasized the 1994 policy is a bone of contention with Los Altos. Los Altos needs to know Sunnyvale's stance in order to move forward.

Tammy Salans supported some type of geographic e-mail list notifying community residents of issues that arise in their specific neighborhoods. Salans approved of the downtown theatre idea and suggested it be combined with a Creative Youth Gallery.

Salans was in favor of study issues related to Council lifetime benefits, Open-space initiative and all of the BPAC study issues. Salans suggested a study issue to consider traffic mitigation along residential neighborhoods bordering Highway 85.

Ken Jorgensen stated he did not agree with the public retirement package and commented it was not equitable with the private sector. Jorgensen affirmed that as a private sector employee he's required to put more of his own money into his retirement than public employees contribute to their plan.

Mayor Spitaleri noted Public Safety employees pay 9 percent of their salary for their pension contribution and non-safety employees pay 7 percent, and in some cases higher.

Arthur Schwartz supported extension of the Stevens Creek Trail and explained the 1994 regulation is no longer applicable because the older proposal exposed homes to the trail while the current plan does not.

Additionally, Schwartz suggested changing the style and format of the Sunnyvale Quarterly Report to reduce paper and printing costs and eventually using e-mail notification.

Public hearing closed.

No formal action required. However, as a result of the public hearing, Councilmembers requested the following new study issues/budget issues be developed for review at the Annual Study Issues/Budget Issues Workshop scheduled for January 23, 2009.

New Study Issues

1. Amend Commercial Vehicle Code (Moylan, Swegles, Spitaleri)
2. Explore Creation of a Sustainability Board/Commission/Committee (Hamilton and Swegles)
3. Explore revenue-generating uses for former landfill property (Swegles, Howe, Hamilton)
4. Parking Management Study for Areas Other than Heritage Neighborhood North of CalTrain (Whittum and Spitaleri). Staff commitment to Council was that a separate Study Issue addressing this item would be created, and the City Manager would be prepared at the Study Issues workshop to recommend to Council whether this issue could/should be merged with DPW 11, or whether it should remain as a separate study issue. DPW to discuss with the City Manager in advance.

Potential New Study Issue Depending on Staff Discussions with City Manager

Consider Rescinding Council's 1994 Policy Regarding Steven's Creek Trail (Howe, Swegles, Moylan, and Hamilton). Council initially requested a "simple, just-do-it" policy change; however, Public Works and Parks and Recreation to discuss pros and cons of a study issue versus a "simple policy change". City Manager to report back to Council via the 2009 Study Issues Workshop.

New Budget Issues

1. Closed Captioning for Council Meeting Broadcasts (Whittum)
2. Parliamentary Procedures Training for Council (Whittum)
3. Increased Publication of Notices (Whittum)
4. Remove Council from CalPERS and health care (Whittum)
5. Online utility bills (Hamilton)
6. Dedicated web person (Hamilton)

3. RTC 09-004 Appointment of Interim Councilmember to Replace Councilmember Lee During Absence Due to Active Military Duty

Assistant City Manager Robert Walker presented the staff report.

Public hearing opened.

Sharon Davis expressed concern about the appointment of an interim councilmember. She prefaced her comments by saying it does not reflect negatively on Mr. Chu and the distinguished service he has given the community. She stated any qualified individual should have been able to apply and suggested a selection process similar to that for Board and Commission members.

Ken Jorgensen stated he believed the appointment process of Dean Chu was a Brown Act violation.

Magda Gabali questioned the transparency in the process of appointing an interim Councilmember and the lack of public participation.

Micki Falk stated surprise at the selection of Mr. Chu. Falk mentioned Dean Chu had lost the election and questioned why the City was rewarding him for that. She suggested an inexperienced appointee could bring in new ideas with new approaches.

Mei-Ling Stefan disagreed with the appointment process.

Werner Gans supported the selection of former Councilmember Dean Chu and mentioned that Mr. Chu was an ideal choice.

Josh Salans asked about the repercussions of Brown Act violations.

Tammy Salans agreed that Dean Chu was an excellent choice but did not approve of the appointment process. She stated the election was a while ago and perhaps Dean would no longer be the choice of the electorate.

Manuel Valerio, former Sunnyvale Councilmember, concurred with previous speakers that the immediate interim appointment of a councilmember was necessary, but that he was dismayed by the selection method, and stated the appointment process wasn't in the best interests of the community. Valerio stated Mr. Chu is a well-qualified individual but also advocated a process similar to the board and Commission recruitments.

Bill Donnelly understood the time issue involved and suggested an open process where the top candidates were selected, then interviewed, with the most qualified individual appointed. The citizens of Sunnyvale would then know that Council opened up the process and performed their due diligence. Donnelly stated he does not have a problem with Mr. Chu, just with the appointment procedure.

Fred Fowler, former Sunnyvale Councilmember, stated the replacement should have the same priorities, policies and comparable views as Councilmember Lee, and that no one would be better to determine those views than Councilmember Lee himself. Due to the steep learning curve, Fowler emphasized that the nominee should have Council or significant planning commission experience.

Michael Rose suggested that a special election be held for Councilmember Lee's seat and remarked that if Councilmember Lee had won his Board of Supervisors Election, that's what would have happened.

Dean Chu stated he would be honored to serve in Councilmember Lee's place. Chu mentioned with his four years of experience serving as a councilmember and knows the government process and promised to work constructively to better the community. Qualifications included a Finance MBA (Masters Degree in Business Administration) with an undergraduate degree in Public Policy. Since he left the dais in 2007, he has continued to serve Sunnyvale, representing all Santa Clara County cities on the Metropolitan Transportation Commission and on the Valley Transportation Authority (VTA) Board. Chu stated his focus has been on environmental sustainability and neighborhood friendly policies to reduce traffic and roadway maintenance with a deep personal commitment to Sunnyvale.

Tara Martin-Milius was astonished by all the controversy surrounding the interim appointment process. Martin-Milius stated Council's approach was an intelligent way to keep the seat open for Councilmember Lee and appointing a qualified individual.

Jeff Jones stated Dean Chu wasn't a bad selection, but he questioned the openness of the selection process and lack of public input.

Arthur Schwartz commented the process may have been faulty but acknowledged that Sunnyvale needs an experienced person to fill Councilmember Lee's seat and Dean Chu fulfills that requirement. Schwartz added with Dean Chu previously serving both on Council and on the Planning Commission, Dean Chu could hit the ground running whereas someone unfamiliar could not.

Public hearing closed.

Councilmember Lee stated having worked with the candidate on Council and on the Planning Commission, Dean Chu had integrity, budgeting and finance expertise and is a transit guru with his vast service in the transit arena. Councilmember Lee stated he believed Dean Chu shares his values and is an exceptional candidate for his vacated seat.

MOTION: Councilmember Lee moved and Councilmember Howe seconded to approve staff recommendation: Council appoints the individual receiving the most votes among those not elected in the 2007 election, Dean Chu, as an interim Councilmember to seat #5 during Councilmember Lee's absence due to active military duty.

Councilmember Swegles clarified that Dean Chu was not appointed at the Council meeting of December 16, 2008 and that the actual appointment would take place tonight, January 6, 2009.

Councilmember Swegles asked the City Attorney David Kahn if the interim Councilmember could run for council in the 2009 election.

City Attorney Kahn answered that based on the City Charter, a Councilmember in a certain seat can only run for the seat for which he or she is an incumbent. Therefore, an individual appointed to Councilmember Lee's seat would not be able to run for that seat because that seat is not up for election in 2009. If that individual stayed in the appointed seat they would not be eligible to run for any other seat. However, there is the possibility that the individual could resign from the appointed seat and run for a different seat.

Councilmember Howe stated there was an agenda and public hearing on of December 16, 2008 and there was very little public input at that meeting. Councilmember Howe noted Council could have appointed a replacement on that time, but chose not to do so..

Councilmember Howe mentioned Dean Chu served on Council with distinction for four years and has a financial background. With the times ahead, his background could be invaluable.

Councilmember Howe said selecting an individual who lost by only 234 votes out of approximately 16,000 votes would reflect the will of the people. Councilmember Howe stated that he walked two geographically different Sunnyvale precincts over the holiday until he reached 100 people. Of those he spoke with, more approved of the process and appointment of Dean Chu than were against it.

Vice Mayor Hamilton asked where was everybody on December 16, 2008. Vice Mayor Hamilton encouraged people to attend a Council meeting before a decision is made rather than after. She stated the appointment of Dean Chu is the right choice due to his background and being quite familiar with many of the same issues he dealt with as a councilmember.

Councilmember Whittum recommended that the City needed either a charter amendment or an ordinance to specify what Council should do in future cases of Military Leave.

Councilmember Whittum opposed the motion because he questioned Council's process and stated transparency and open government are better served in an appointment process similar to that of the Boards and Commissions. However, as part of the staff recommendation, Whittum was in favor of eliminating the digital marquee project (saving $200,000 dollars) to pay for the one-time expense of an interim Councilmember.

Councilmember Whittum favored a better process and mentioned that the City might come up with the same result - Dean Chu being the best candidate but he stated the process is important and open government is what they should deliver.

Councilmember Swegles addressed some of the earlier comments by stating there wasn't a Brown Act violation and supported the motion. Councilmember Swegles mentioned there was plenty of opportunity to oppose the selection process on December 16, 2008.

Councilmember Moylan stated the public had previously mentioned the interim appointment should be a councilmember devoid of any additional intergovernmental duties. Councilmember Moylan asked the maker of the motion if that would be acceptable as a friendly amendment.

Councilmember Howe asked City Attorney Kahn if a person is appointed to a council seat would the interim councilmember be entitled to all the duties associated with the position.

City Attorney Kahn answered that was correct. City Attorney Kahn elaborated by saying the interim appointment would have all the powers, obligations and duties of a councilmember; generally including stepping into whatever intergovernmental assignments the vacating councilmember was assigned. He added that Council has the ability to grant or take away additional intergovernmental duties, but generally, in terms of legal authority, an individual with an interim appointment would have the legal right to take over those intergovernmental responsibilities subject to council direction.

Councilmember Lee stated the interim councilmember should be able to perform intergovernmental responsibilities and did not accept Councilmember Moylan's friendly amendment.

Councilmember Moylan opposed the selection process but did hope to appoint the very qualified Dean Chu. Councilmember Moylan stated he would vote against this motion.

Mayor Spitaleri stated he felt the highest-vote-getter proposal was valid. Mayor Spitaleri commented that the public was invited to attend the December 16, 2008 meeting with the rules regarding public notification being properly followed. Spitaleri added that he will follow Councilmember Lee's recommendation; stating Councilmember Lee supports the motion to appoint Dean Chu and Councilmember Lee supported the motion of December 16, 2008.

VOTE: 5-2 (Councilmembers Moylan and Whittum dissented)

Councilmember Whittum proposed and Councilmember Swegles seconded a 2010 study issue to develop a policy to address the process for appointing interim councilmembers.
